Ulster Volunteer Firemen Adopt Mutual Coverage

Association of 43 Companies at Monthly Meeting Endorses Plan Designed for Better Fire Protection—Kingston's Fire Chief, J. F. Murphy, Outlines Program

Loughran's Map

Highway Supt. Loughran Prepares Map Showing Location of Companies

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association with a membership of 43 fire companies, unanimously adopted a plan designed for better fire protection and known as the mutual aid and coverage system at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening when the association was the guest of Excelsior Hose Company of this city. The association will be entertained by the Hasbrouck Engine Company of Connelly at the September meeting.

For several months a committee headed by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of this city and composed of James A. Simpson, John T. Groves, John A. Heaney, Augustus Bunce, C. G. A. Fisher, J. Ellis Briggs, Edward Maines and Roscoe V. Elsworth, have been at work on this mutual aid plan.

In submitting the report to the meeting Chief Murphy explained that the committee was deeply indebted to Superintendent James F. Loughran of the county highway department, who was preparing a map of the county showing the locaton of every fire company.

The committee will meet later with all of the fire chiefs of Ulster county to discuss the plan and make any changes or corrections in the plan that might be deemed wise.

Kingston Is Headquarters

Under the plan the Kingston fire department will be central headquarters and when a fire breaks out in a community where the local company is unable to fight it successfully all that is necessary is to call central headquarters and another fire department will be assigned to assist the one in need.

While a fire department has gone to the aid of another the territory left without fire fighting apparatus will be covered by still another fire department.

Practically the only cost involved in the mutual aid system will be the cost of telephone calls, and it was decided to have the committee wait on the Board of Supervisors and ask the board to make an appropriation to cover the cost of telephone calls.

A copy of the schedule will be furnished to each fire department and kept on file in each engine house. It was suggested that each copy be framed and hung in the engine house where it can be seen readily and studied by each member of the fire company so each will know just what action to take when a fire breaks out.

Membership Increases

Since the July meeting of the association another fire department has joined the association. The new member is the Plattekill fire department. The total membership of the association is now 490 members.

The speaker of the evening was Albert N. Cook, local fire insurance broker, who gave an interesting talk on the formation of the first fire insurance company in England and also in this country, and also spoke interestingly in the development of fire departments.

The meeting was held in the King Crown Restaurant on Washington avenue, and at the close of the business meeting refreshments were served and entertainment provided by Agnes Russell at the piano with Mae Carling as soloist. Both are from New York city and are spending their vacation in Woodstock.

Sickles Entertainers from Saugerties also put on a fine program of instrumeatal and vocal music.

The meeting was one of the largest held in some time by the association. More than 300 delegates and friends were present.

Mediator Handles Strike

Philadelphia, Aug. 17 (AP)—A federal mediator stepped into negotiations today for settlement of a strike of 1,000 Yellow Cab Company drivers in Philadelphia. Edward McDonald, representing the government, joined State Mediator Charles Kutz in arranging a conference between representatives of the management and the American Federation of Labor's Taxicab Drivers' Union.

Lewis at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Novelist Sinclair Lewis is going to get his second try at acting here next week. The author, Harold Winston, director of the Spa players, said today, will appear with movie Actress Fay Wray in "There's Always Juliet." The play opens at the state-owned Saratoga Spa next Tuesday night.

Hull's Speech Seen As Good and Bad By Other Nations

France, Great Britain Welcome Appeal Against 'Lawlessness' but Italy, Germany Feel Offended

(By The Associated Press)

Secretary Hull's appeal against "international lawlessness," broadcast to a world already beset by wars in China and Spain, was welcomed by France and Britain today as a warning of war dangers in central Europe.

But in Rome Fascists saw the speech, counselling a swing from force to armament reduction and economic reconstruction as a basis for world stability, as an attack upon the "have not nations," Germany and Italy.

The Berlin foreign office said today in its official organ, Duetsche Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, that Secretary Hull showed a "narrow mental horizon" in his international radio broadcast last night.

"Moral Preacher"

The article left no doubt that the German government resented what he termed America's "endeavors to act the role of moral preacher."

The speech came as reports reached Paris that the Spanish insurgents had cast their lot definitely with Italy and Germany, perhaps ending hopes of Britain and France to withdraw foreign volunteers from the civil war.

Insurgent sources in Paris expressed the belief the insurgent note, given Britain's representative, Sir Robert Hodgson, yesterday, would raise so many technical objections to the non-intervention proposal that the reply might as well be an out and out no.

The Chinese war continued bogged down in the Yangtze valley, where the Japanese skirmished along three alternate routes in the hope of finding soft spots in the Chinese defenses through which they might direct their drive on Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital.

A dispatch from Hsinking, Manchoukuo, said Chinese guerrillas still were active in Manchoukuo—seven years after the Japanese wrested it from China and established a protectorate. There also were many mysterious disasters in industry indicating a different type of working from within. Japanese army officers said the guerrillas were Communist inspired.

Three Weeks' Recess

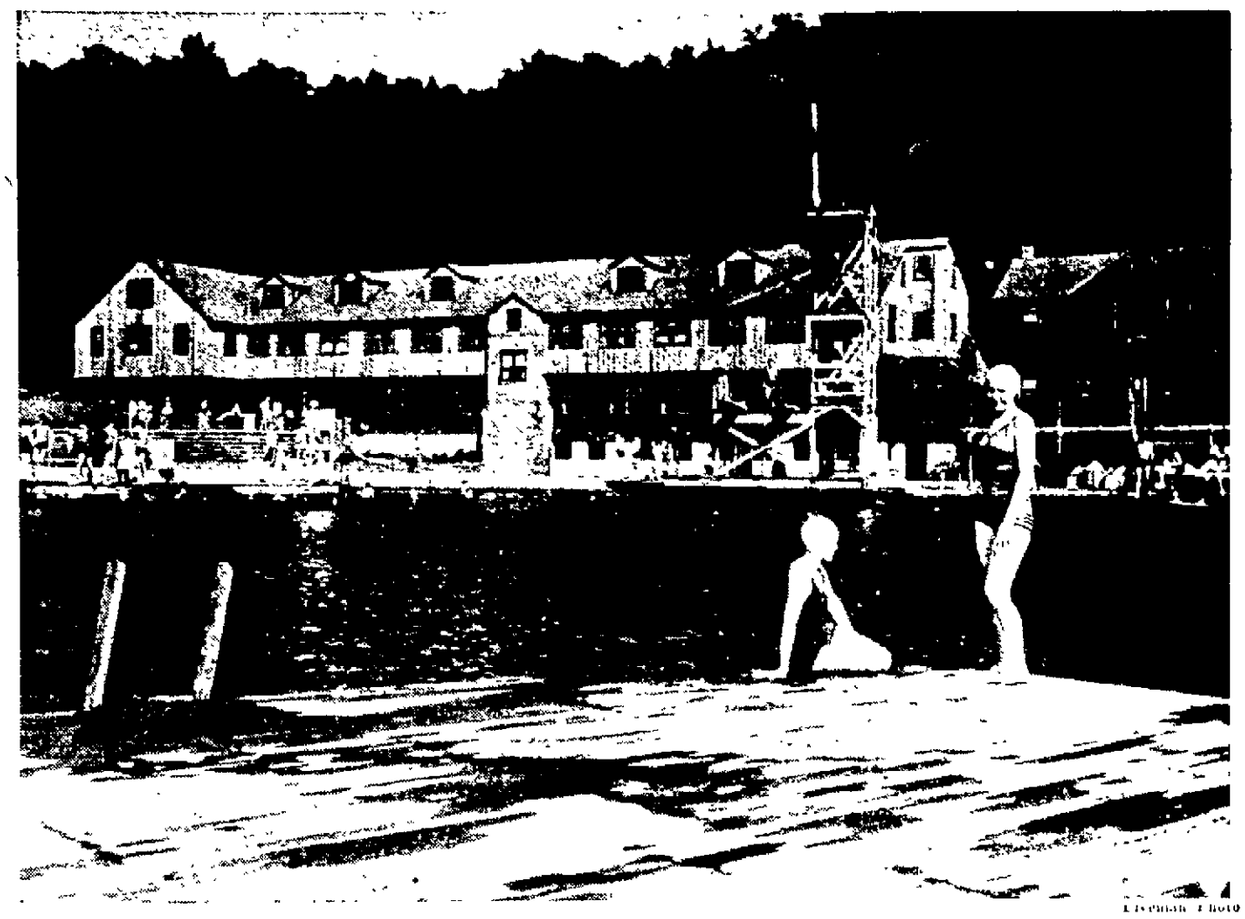

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP).—A special session of the Pennsylvania legislature went into a three-weeks' recess today, leaving all but two phases of Governor George H. Earle's 27-point legislative program on the "unfinished business" list.

Williams Lake, Where Business Folk Will Frolic

Freeman Photo

Arrangements for the Kingston Business Men's Association outing Thursday at Williams Lake are complete. Practically all stores will close at 3 o'clock so that clerks may join the festivities, which will include various sports, contests, swimming, a buffet lunch, dancing to the music of Roger Baer's Cubs and a big floor show.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood has made arrangements for use of the west side of Wall street between North Front and John streets for the assemblage of outing cars. All employes and clerks who drive their cars to work are requested to keep them off Wall street as usual during the morning shopping hours but after the noon hour on return to work they are asked to park their cars on the west side of Wall street on the reserved section so that the parade may be quickly formed after the stores close at 3 o'clock. Cars of employes may be parked Thursday afternoon on the west side of Wall street without offending the traffic officers. As soon as the cars, all bearing official picnic posters, have filled the street along the curb, a second line will be formed on the west of the street, but traffic will be allowed to pass through on the east side of the street.

When the stores are closed at 3 o'clock the guests will assemble immediately at their cars and buses, which will take those who have no means of transportation. Headed by a motorcycle escort of Kingston police officers the parade will move to the Boulevard where at the city line the city police will turn back, but the parade will be picked up by State Troopers and sheriff's motorcycle officers who will escort the cars to the lake.

As guests of the Association will be Mayor Conrad J. Helselman, Sheriff Abram F. Molyneaux, Chief of Police J. Allan Wood and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Doing an "Alphonse and Gaston" act will be Ed Huben and Sam Bernstein. Both have been designated "marshals" for the parade by President Jim Rowe of the Business Men's Association, but each is giving credit for the excellent arrangements for the parade to the other. However, one or both will act as marshal and see that the parade gets off as scheduled.

The outing will be held rain or shine but most of the guests are anticipating a sunny day.

Reservations are still coming in and the attendance will probably reach 400.

East-Side Children Stage 'Shower' Strike

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Oppressed by a two-week heat wave, 60 East Side children, all under 12 years old, held a sit-down strike in protest over a shortage of street showers.

The children, waving American flags and banners inscribed "We Want Showers," squatted on the hot pavement yesterday near 21st Street and 1st Avenue until a policeman warned them they might be injured by automobiles.

They promptly moved the sit-down strike to a nearby sidewalk, then adjourned it after American Labor Party workers told them they would ask Mayor LaGuardia to install the showers.

Youth Congress Avoids Any Issue Arising Over 'Isms'

Officials of World Parley Now at Poughkeepsie Make No Effort to Conceal Fact That 'Reds' Are There

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., August 17 (AP).—The issue of the "isms," introduced into the World Youth Congress by refusal of Poughkeepsie municipal authorities to greet the delegates because of their "internationalism," was scrupulously avoided at the opening in the Vassar College chapel.

However, officials made no secret today of the fact that among the nearly 60 delegates, and the 400 "observers," there are Communists as well as those of other political faiths.

Joseph Cadden, chairman of the United States delegation, pointed out that the purpose of the congress is to put youth of whatever shade of opinion to work on the problem of world peace, and none could be excluded—although some have excluded themselves.

These include, notably, Italy and Germany. Germany's chief reason for refusal to participate was, according to Mary Brignoli, of the European group, because German was not used as the official language.

At the formal welcome last night Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt called the "good neighbor" policy of the United States one step in the direction of peace of which this country can be proud.

Proceedings were considerably lengthened by the necessity of translating all remarks into both French and Spanish.

Beginning today, however, an automatic translator in the auditorium of the students' building will be used.

Industrial Home Children's Picnic

Annual Outing at Orange Lake Today — Motorcycle Escort Tour of City

Children of the Industrial Home left shortly before 11 o'clock this morning for Orange Lake near Newburgh where they will have their annual picnic and outing.

A motorcycle escort led the group of cars in which they rode, on a tour of the city before they left for the trip. They were accompanied by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and several firemen who were off duty and in whose cars the children rode.

The annual event is given by the Kingston Paid Firemen's Association and represents the big day of the year for the youngsters.

Mrs. Philip Elting, president of the Industrial Home board, who usually accompanies the children, was unable to go this time. The children, however, were driven past her home on St. James street before leaving the city.

At Newburgh, the children were to be met by the Fire Chief there, who was scheduled to accompany them to Orange Lake where all facilities were to be at their disposal. Firemen John Stauble and John Heppner were in charge of refreshments.

Dewey Says Hines Drew $500 Weekly

Asserts at Opening of Trial That Schultz Mob Advertised Hines 'Pull'

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey told a supreme court jury today that James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 61-year-old Tammany district leader, was paid "500 a week, always in cash," in return for political protection for the late Dutch Schultz' multi-million dollar policy racket.

Dewey's statements, made in his opening address at Hines' trial on conspiracy charges, were denounced by defense counsel Paul Lloyd Stryker as "diabolical falsehoods."

"I shall show you that James J. Hines never conspired with anyone," Stryker told the jury. "He never received $500 a week from Dutch Schultz."

"The whole case," he said, "is saturated with the rankest perjury presented to a jury in New York county."

In his opening address, Dewey vividly sketched the operations of the policy racket and charged that the notorious Dutch Schultz mob had boasted to the underworld that Hines was the political protector of the "pennies from Harlem" racket.

Andrews Would Use No Big Stick in New Post

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—Elmer F. Andrews, who came down from New York this week to administer the new wage-hour law, leaned his elbows on the table, puffed a thin cloud of cigarette smoke and spoke in a low voice.

"I'm going to ask people not to rush in with demands," he said. "They will have to understand that it will be fair neither to the administrator, to labor nor to business to have a lot of confusion."

His procedure, he said, will be cooperation with business rather than wielding a big stick, as long as he can get results by cooperation.

Wide Search Made For Dodge's Body In Georgian Bay

Airplanes and Fishing Vessels Join Forces Near Little Current, Ont., Where Heir Was Lost on Monday

Little Current, Ont., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—Planes and fishing vessels today joined in a search for the body of 21-year-old Daniel Dodge, heir to a Michigan motor fortune, who was drowned Monday night after suffering grave injuries in a dynamite explosion.

Six fishing vessels were manned by from 25 to 30 men using heavily weighted seines to drag the 90-foot depths of the inside channel where Dodge was lost overboard while hurrying with four others for medical aid.

The search was spurred by Dodge's step-father, Alfred G. Wilson of Detroit, who offered a $1,000 reward for recovery of the body.

The search extended several miles around the spot, eight miles west of this Manitoulin Island port, where Dodge was lost from his speedboat rushing through rough waters from his summer camp at Kagawong.

The dynamite explosion, a result of Dodge's curiosity concerning some old explosives, seriously injured him as well as his bride of 12 days and Lloyd Bryant, camp caretaker.

Suffering a serious head injury, Mrs. Dodge was said to be "considerably improved" last night. Attending surgeons also believed that Bryant would recover from internal injuries.

Frank Valiquette, another caretaker, was released from the hospital after being treated for minor injuries resulting from the explosion.

Al Smith Points at Ulster as 'Hot One' in Reapportionment

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith today described a Republican-drafted reapportionment proposal as "positively defeating our American form of representative government" and warned Republicans to "be careful of what the people will do to you."

"You are going to win this fight," Smith said, pointing to the Republican majority of New York's Constitutional Convention, "but only by brute force of numbers. Let me warn you to be careful when you come into the larger forum where everybody has a voice."

"Here's a hot one. There are 77,000 people in all of Ulster county, and they get two assemblymen. I would like to know what the answer is except political expediency and the desire to retain control."

"Why should Chautauqua county, for instance, have two assemblymen with 59,000 people for each, when Kings county is forced to have an assemblyman for every 33,000 people?" he asked. "I'll tell you why—because there hasn't been a Democrat elected in Chautauqua county since the Civil War.

"Democratic spokesmen have threatened to go into every city and village in the state and speak against this bill," he declared. "Well, that is their privilege, but they are conscienceless when they would ruin all for the sake of defeat of one measure."

Republican Chairman H. Duane Bruce of the apportionment committee, defended the measure as "based on principles which are sound and long established in the American system of representative government."

Bruce's assertion was made in a statement as debate on the reapportionment proposal was resumed by delegates with little chance of a vote before nightfall.

Smith's assertion came coincident with a Republican charge that Democrats intended to sabotage the entire work of the convention because of dissatisfaction with the measure.

Smith said "It is to be deplored that the Assembly is to be increased from 150 to 159 under this plan."

"It's too large now," he said. "If we keep this up, we will have a house like the House of Representatives in Washington, which is too unwieldy. Then a small group has control of things."

Wild Storm Hits Utilities in City, Fruit Area Safe

Northwest 'Twister' Accompanied by Lightning and Rain Howls Out of Northwest Yesterday Afternoon to Disrupt Lights and Telephones—Trees Are Blown Down

Corrigan Travels In Clouds During Storm Yesterday

'Wrong-Way' Doug Salutes Kingston About 4:45 P. M. on Way to Reception at Albany; 800 Feet High

Douglas Corrigan, who recently became an over-night hero, when he piloted his "orphan" monoplane from Roosevelt Field to Ireland, flew over Kingston yesterday during the storm with his now famous $900 plane about 4:45 o'clock.

The venturesome flyer was on his way from New York to Albany and swerved from his direct course up the river to head over this city to the Kingston Airport, where he turned and continued his flight north.

Herman Friedrich, Kingston airplane pilot, who had had advance information that the now famous pilot was to include Kingston in his trip, was watching for his possible appearance. It was nearly an hour after the scheduled time that he saw Corrigan's plane emerge from the black clouds that shrouded the skies toward the southeast.

Herman says that Corrigan was flying at an altitude of perhaps 1,200 feet when he came out of "the soup." He nosed the plane down to about 800 feet in the vicinity of the airport, then banked and headed toward Albany, flying slightly to the west and in the direction of High Woods, where skies were brighter and where he probably saw a chance to escape further experience with the storm.

Corrigan had been expected at Kingston about 4 o'clock and would probably have found a good crowd waiting to greet him at the Airport at that time, but it was shortly after four that the heavy electrical storm broke and when he did put in an appearance nearly an hour later there were only a few people in automobiles waiting for the possible chance of seeing him and his plane.

It was about ten minutes past five when Corrigan set his plane down at the Albany Airport, where he was greeted by a large crowd that had sweltered in the excessive heat as they awaited his arrival.

A tumultuous procession headed by the Tenth Infantry Band escorted Corrigan from the Airport to the TenEyck Hotel, streets along the route being blocked by men, women and children who wanted to get a glimpse of the intrepid airman.

At the dinner given in his honor at the Ten Eyck Tuesday night, guests numbered about 200 and addresses were made by Mayor Thacher, Lieut.-Governor Bray and Representative W. T. Byrne. Following the dinner Corrigan made a short visit to the Constitutional Convention,

No Costly Damage

Final Check of Affected Areas Reveals That Storm Though Intense Wrecked Little

An electrical, wind and rain storm of brief duration but one of the most severe in some time swept over Kingston from the northwest shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon leaving in its wake uprooted trees and a tangle of electric light and telephone wires.

According to the records in the city engineer's office there was a downpour of rain of .55 inches, while the temperature dropped 10 points in five minutes from 80 to 70 degrees. The highest point recorded was at 1:45 o'clock that afternoon when a high of 97 degrees was recorded.

Minor Difficulties

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. suffered only minor difficulties to its lines and no circuits were reported out. In numerous sections of the city and the surrounding country trees were blown down and branches were torn loose carrying down electric light wires but fortunately the damage was confined to branch circuits serving only a few patrons.

The house lighting system was out in various sections of the city. The most damage was reported in the vicinity of Main street and Lounsberry Place, West Chester and West Chestnut streets, Foxhall avenue, Delaware avenue and the Ponckhockie sections of Kingston.

Lightning struck an aerial at the E. A. Hanley home at 25 Shufeldt street but started no fire. Mrs. A. Buddenhagen of 12 Mary's avenue reported lightning had struck an electric light wire but the fire department found no damage. A meter was burned out.

At the New York Telephone Co. office here it was stated that the storm put 300 telephones out of commission. The greater part of the trouble was experienced in the upper section of the city, along the Sawkill road and at West Hurley. Telephone wires were also down in Port Ewen.

The telephone repair crews worked replacing the fallen wires and at noon today practically all of the trouble was remedied.

At Sawkill a tree was blown down, damaging wires and as the storm swept into the city there was a narrow section uptown which suffered considerable damage.

Wonderly Car Struck

A tree was up-rooted on Clinton avenue near the Senate House. A large tree which stood in the line between the Wonderly store and the Paris Millinery Store on the Fair street side was blown down and crashed through the top of C. E. Wonderly's car which stood in the parking ground at the rear of his store. Another car nearby escaped damage.

A large tree on Smith avenue, near Grand street, was uprooted; another on Delaware avenue, near Broadway, and another on Foxhall avenue, near Hasbrouck avenue. A large billboard on Foxhall avenue was knocked down by the wind. The sign fell upon the sidewalk.

In front of the Senate House on Clinton avenue a large tree was uprooted and was kept from crashing by the telephone and electric wires. The situation was so dangerous that the police department shut off the street and diverted traffic through other streets until the tree could be removed.

Other trees were taken down by the wind on Clifton avenue at Highland avenue; on Shufeldt street and on First avenue.

Peculiar Storm

"The storm was a peculiar one, covering a narrow section and doing most of the damage in town in the central section," said Arthur L. Colligan, Central Hudson manager here. "The storm came down from the direction of Sawkill and seemed to be of the twister type," he said.

South of Kingston the storm was particularly severe but appeared to confine damage to small areas. At the George Terpening farm on the River road at Ulster Park trees were blown down and the storm was accompanied by hail. South of Esopus the storm was also more severe and apparently the storm did more damage as it made its way down the river.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau office however this morning reported that there had been no reports of any extensive damage to fruit crops from high wind or hail except in limited areas.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—The week's rally in the stock market levelled off today in a slow, indefinite drift.

Trading came almost to a halt as the recovery lost headway on the climb up the recovery road in the forenoon. However, most shares held the greater part of early gains, with active issues showing advances of fractions to more than 2 points near the final hour.

Transactions were at the rate of about 600,000 shares for the full session.

With offerings small, buyers were forced to bid up to bring out stock. Near the third hour, prices were about at the tops of the rally, although well under the highest points of the mid-year upswing.

Prominent among the gainers were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber Preferred, du Pont, Philip Morris, Johns Manville, Owens Illinois Glass, Union Carbide, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction, National Bascuit, Corn Products and American Smelting.

Rails and utilities mostly advanced fractions but speculation still centered on the industrial groups.

Helping the rally was a firmer stand by the major commodity markets, including cotton and wheat. Bonds also were inclined to follow the leasurely advance in the stocks.

Stocks Continued Upward Movement Begun on Monday

Stocks yesterday continued the recovery movement begun Monday and all classes of securities shows gains for the day. Industrial issues were up 1.16 points, to 128.44 in the Dow-Jones averages, rails gained 0.20 point, to 27.96, utilities were up 0.39 point to 19.50. Bonds were firm. Commodities generally advanced. Wheat was up 2⅛ cents in Chicago; New York cotton was up six to seven points; rubber and hides gained as much as 17 points, cocoa showed an upward tendency.

London and Amsterdam markets were firmer, Paris irregular. On the Berlin Bourse there was little demand for what stocks were offered and losses were as much as five points, with steadily growing economic tension and heavy strain imposed by the huge scale army maneuvers. Foreign currencies advanced against the dollar.

Officials of American Telephone & Telegraph have been surprised at the sharp gain in stations in the last week in July and the first two weeks in August. The unusual turnabout in installations at a time of year when normally station losses are shown is viewed as an indication that the seasonal upswing in business has come at least a month earlier this year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved a plan of reorganization for the Chicago Great Western Railroad. It provides for a total capitalization of $62,291,627 as against a present capitalization of $139,217,313. Annual interest requirements under the reorganization plan will be $1,435,242; present annual fixed charges are $1,858,895. Plan must be approved by the federal court and by 66 2-3 per cent of each class of security holders. Under the plan the old common stockholders are not permitted to participate in the reorganization.

A tentative draft for merger of the Chicago & North Western and the St. Paul Railroads has been completed by a committee representing the systems. Claimed operating economies of $10,000,000 a year will ensue.

Jersey Central bond holders are considering a petition to the court to authorize the company to dispose of marginal lands not essential to operation of the road. Would save about $100,000 a year.

Some net income reports for six months ended June 30 include: Sears, Roebuck & Co., $7,118,888 (24 weeks to July 16), comparing with $15,190,441 in first half of 1937. International Paper and Power, deficit of $701,116, compared with income of $5,032,693 in 1937 period. Union Pacific Railroad $2,151,373 vs. $2,192,619. Central R. R. of New Jersey, deficit of $1,846,435 vs. deficit of $471,000. Pacific Mills, deficit of $2,246,963 vs. income of $1,097,537 last year, when $2.77 a share was paid. B. F. Goodrich Co. deficit of $209,551 vs. income in first half of 1937 of $3,510,698, or $1.90 a share.

Phillips Petroleum Co. had net of about 30 cents a share in July, highest for any month this year to date. Had net of $1.26 a share in the first half vs. $2.85 a share in the 1937 period.

Chesapeake & Ohio declared 25 cents on common, same as paid July 1. Beechnut Packing voted usual extra 25 cents in addition to regular quarterly of $1. Newmont Mining Corp. ordered 50 cents, same as paid June 15. Schenley Distillers declared regular quarterly of $1.37½ on preferred.

Arrangements were made for sale of Stock Exchange seat at $80,000, off $5,00 from previous transaction.

Residential contracts awarded in July were $6,932,000 ahead of July last year. Contracts for the first seven months of this year are reported to be 18 per cent below the same period in 1937.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my daughter, Miss Maude R. Weaver, who passed away 10 years ago today, August 17.

Near a shady wall a rose once grew,
Budded and blossomed in God's free light,
Watered and fed by morning dew,
Shedding its sweetness day and night.
As it grew and blossomed fair and tall,
Slowly rising to loftier height,
It came to a crevice in the wall
Through which there shone a beam of light.
Onward it crept with added strength,
With never a thought or fear or pride;
It followed the light through the crevice's length
And unfolded itself on the other side.
Shall claim of death cause us to grieve
And make our courage faint and fail?
Nay! let us faith and hope receive.
The rose still grows beyond the wall,
Scattering fragrance far and wide,
Just as it did in the days of yore,
Just as it did on this side—
Just as it will forevermore.

Bereaved Mother,
Mrs. William C. Schryver.

Several Million Mosquitoes Threaten New York's Fair

New York, Aug. 17. (AP).—The first unwelcome visitors to New York's 1939 World Fair were being ejected today. They were several million gnats and mosquitoes.

The Bureau of Entomology in Washington called the gnats "so abundant and troublesome as to cause a serious menace to the success of the fair, unless controlled." It said they were breeding in enormous numbers on semi-artificial lakes and lagoons on the fair grounds.

A spokesman for the fair officials poohpoohed the menace and quickly warmed to a discussion of the wholesale slaughter of insects in the site of future merriment and gaiety. He added:

"Competent authorities have given assurances that ample means of control are available; the fair is calling on the best advice of entomologists and other experts."

Assault Very Heavy

Nearby Nassau county, including Rockville Centre and even Jones Beach, has met an unprecedented assault by hordes of hardy salt-march mosquitoes which have plagued the seaside resorts and, inland outbitten great numbers of fresh-water swamp mosquitoes and house mosquitoes.

They are the product of heavy June rains, which descended for 18 out of the first 20 days of the month, saturating the ground and raising the level of subsurface water. Thousands of acres of mosquito eggs have hatched with 5,000 eggs to the square yard.

Experts say the salt-marsh mosquito of Nassau has a cruising range of 65 miles, which makes the fair grounds only a potential whistle stop.

The swamp and house mosquitoes normally can fly only a few hundred yards without refueling, but give them a strong tail wind and there's no telling where they might establish new wrong-way flight records. The flooded swamps have produced so many of them that the Nassau County Extermination Commission announced it could spend 10 times its appropriation of $150,000.

Larvacide has been spread over the land on Long Island, and oil has been poured on troubled swamp waters.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or show worry—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Women to Hold Exhibit at Fair

Woodstock, August 17.—Encouraged by the enjoyment they derived from last year's Ulster County Fair, and by the prizes their products received, Woodstock women are preparing their exhibits for this year's fair at Forsyth Park. There will be prizes for canned goods, baked goods, needlework, quilts, table settings, flower arrangements, crafts and hobbies, furniture and slip covers.

Woodstockers have already done well in knit articles, quilts and other handiwork.

This year the fair committee has made Mrs. Besse Cohn a special representative in Woodstock to receive and handle Woodstock entries for those who for any reason are unable to spend the day, August 24, at the fair grounds to enter and remove their articles. Further information may be had from Mrs. Cohn, in whose hands exhibits should be this week if possible.

Does Your Breath Broadcast— "I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

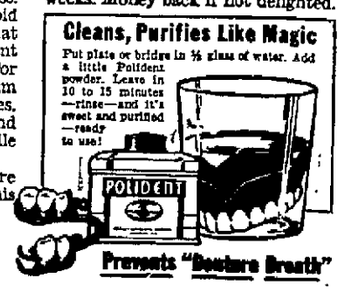

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

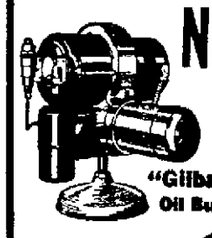

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

YOUNG "LIFER" ENTERS OHIO PRISON

Youngest life-term convict ever to enter Ohio State Penitentiary, 15-year-old Lindbergh Trent is shown passing through the barred door to pay for the attack-slaying of Shirley Ann Woodburn, 6, of Cincinnati. In the pocket of his shirt, Trent carried lollypops and cigarettes.

Two More Torso Victims Are Found By Ohio Officials

Cleveland, Aug. 17 (AP)—Discovery of the eleventh and twelfth victims of Cleveland's "torso slayer" spurred detectives today on the will-o'-the-wisp trail of a maniacal mass murderer as cunning as he is bloodthirsty.

A rock-strewn dump fringing the site of last year's Great Lakes Exposition, near the city's business district, yesterday yielded the decapitated and dissected bodies of two persons—the last to join the mad killer's "headless dead."

Coroner S. R. Gerber said the slayer left his mark of surgical skill and an obvious knowledge of anatomy.

The victims were unidentified, like all but three of the four women and six men who met a similar fate in the last three years.

A search for scrap iron led James Dawson, 21, to the remnants of a woman. A curious passer-by attracted by officers at the scene uncovered decomposed fragments of the second victim, described by Gerber as "probably another woman." A hair pin was found with the severed bones.

Remains of the first, Gerber said, indicated that she had been slain not more than six months ago. He said the other had been killed an indefinite time before.

Police said parcels containing the piecemeal dead had been in the dump not more than two or three weeks.

A FRIENDLY SOCONY STATION

"I've found your boy!"

A mother recently reported her son missing. To get news of the search quickly, she had a telephone installed. Not more than half an hour after the instrument was put in, the bell rang. It was the installer who had just left her home.

"Is that your boy's picture on the mantelpiece?" he asked. The mother said it was. "Then I've found him. I recognized him on my way back to the office."

Every day people by the thousands turn to the telephone to save time and steps in their search for something. So whatever you are looking for, just remember your telephone is there to help you reach anyone, anywhere, any time. New York Telephone Company.

IT'S TUNE-UP TIME IN KINGSTON

WHY WASTE GAS AND POWER IN YOUR CAR?

FOR ONLY $1.00 YOU CAN GIVE YOUR CAR A MONEY-SAVING TUNE-UP

HERE'S ALL YOU DO:

1. When your gas tank is nearly empty, go to any one of the gasoline stations now displaying "Tune-up Time" banners. Get five or more gallons of Ethyl. (It is important to have the tank nearly empty because dilution of Ethyl with fuel already in the tank will not permit tune-up for maximum performance.)

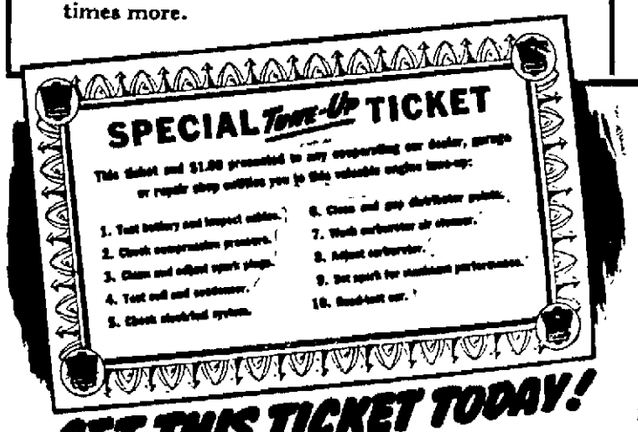

2. Ask station attendant for a Tune-up Ticket.

3. Present this ticket with $1.00 to any one of the automobile dealers, garages or tune-up shops cooperating during "Tune-up Time." (Telephone for an appointment so you won't have to wait.) This will entitle you to a special engine tune-up that would regularly cost from two to three times more.

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET:

1. Test battery and inspect cables.
2. Check compression pressure.
3. Clean and adjust spark plugs.
4. Test coil and condenser.
5. Check electrical system.
6. Clean and gap distributor points.
7. Wash carburetor air cleaner.
8. Adjust carburetor.
9. Set spark for maximum performance.
10. Road-test car.

"SALES MEAN JOBS"

GET THIS TICKET TODAY!

TODAY it will cost you only $1.00 to make your car a better car. Chances are 4 to 1 your car is out of adjustment—wasting as much as 20% of its power. Give it the tune-up shown above and it will run better and use less gas—really be a better car than the one you are now driving.

Better hurry! This offer is good only until next Tuesday, August 23rd.

IMPORTANT: Ask your gasoline dealer for list of cooperating tune-up garages and service departments.

TRAFFIC FACTS

The figures presented at the opening sessions of the National Institute for Traffic Safety Training at Ann Arbor, Mich., are distinctly encouraging. Take the statement of O. D. Fennell, president of the safety council: "We are saving many lives. In the first half of 1938 there have been 3,670 fewer deaths in traffic accidents than in the same period of 1937, a reduction of 22 per cent."

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Automotive Safety Foundation of the Studebaker Corporation, pointed out that the good record to date in 1938 cannot be credited to less driving, for gasoline consumption is well ahead of that for 1937. "The important thing," he said, "is the rate per 100,000,000 vehicle-miles. If the rate in 1936 had been 12, as it had for the first half of this year, it would have meant the saving of 12,000 lives, the elimination of 300,000 injuries, the saving of $400,000 in hard cash."

Dr. McClintock, director of the Yale Bureau for Street Traffic Research, gave society a mild excuse for having been temporarily at the mercy of the motor car. "Our horizons have been changed from six to ten miles an hour and thirty miles a day to fifty or sixty miles an hour and 500 to 600 miles a day," he said. "It is the most enormous transportation system in the world, with 3,000,000 miles of rights of way—the roads—30,000,000 pieces of rolling stock—the cars—and 80,000,000 riders daily."

No wonder we blundered at first. But there are to be fewer accidents and more safe passenger-miles of travel from now on if newspapers and public continue their present support of the work of these traffic experts and promoters of safety.

THE "UNCONSCIOUS" ARSONIST

The crime of arson is universally condemned. The deliberate setting of fire can have no justification in any case, and the person committing it is properly given severe punishment when apprehended. It would be a fine thing for the country if some of that condemnation were extended to the man who causes fire because of his own ignorance, carelessness or stupidity. For the grim harvest reaped by the "unconscious arsonist" is infinitely greater and more serious than that of the fire-bug. He doesn't do it on purpose, of course—but that's a frail excuse indeed when lives and property are destroyed.

Certainly the man who carelessly discards smoking materials in dry woods that are ready to explode into flame at the touch of a spark, is deserving of little public sympathy. Neither is the man who wantonly permits hazards to exist on his property and endangers the property of everyone else in the community.

In some European countries, notably France, the law provides that if a fire starts on anyone's property through the fault or negligence of the owner, he is financially responsible for the damage done to other property. There's small chance of passing such a law here—but the principle it represents is worth thinking about. Most of the hazards that cause fire can be easily eliminated. And the argument that many of us don't recognize hazards when we see them, isn't valid. Ignorance of fire dangers, like ignorance of the law, should not constitute an excuse.

Are you an "unconscious arsonist?" It's easy to say "no"—but can you be certain that's the right answer?

WELCOME TRUCE

The truce between Russia and Japan seems to be real, although a skeptical world may have its doubts about the proposed four-man commission to settle the border dispute. There have been boundary commissions before now whose work seems always to have been in vain. Not much faith is placed in this one by outside observers.

Why Russia and Japan have stopped this particular fight is only a shade less puzzling than why they started it in the first place. But a truce is a truce and not be scorned in any war.

BACK TO FARM

Perhaps the most wholesome economic movement in America today is the one back to the farm. It continues strongly, according to a recent census survey. Thus the unbalance created by the drift to the cities in the recent 1920's is being remedied. Farm realty values have held up in spite of bad business conditions.

And surprisingly enough, one of the largest groups of rural land-buyers is composed of auto trailer people. Most of them, it develops, are not at all the irresponsible vagrants that so many people imagine, but already own property and buy more in their ramblings.

"Wall Streeters Weigh Effect of a War on Business." Does that require much thought? First there's an artificial stimulation of war business and then there's a prolonged and world-wide economic depression.

We seem to be slowly evolving an economic system where everybody will live on aid he gets from other people, something like everybody taking in everybody else's washing.

The gold rush of August, 1938, lacks the picturesque and productive qualities of the gold rushes of California in 1849 and the Yukon thirty years later.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune," said Shakespeare. Also a tide which, taken at the ebb, reveals hidden treasure.

Military power may now go 'way back and sit down. A coast artillery battalion at Fort Hancock, N. J., was put out of business by an air raid of Jersey skeeters.

PREVENTING FORMATION OF KIDNEY STONES

As students we were taught about stones in the kidney or in the tube going from kidney to bladder, or in the tube from bladder to outside of body. They caused severe colicky pains, and morphine must be used to ease the pain and relax the tissues surrounding the stone. If stones were small they would pass out themselves; if large, blocking openings and causing intense pain, they should be removed by operation.

Today physicians are not content to simply treat kidney stone colic and remove large stones, but are studying the causes of these stones and how best to prevent these stones from forming. According, what is called 'The Stone Clinic' was organized over a year ago at The Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. Dr. Fuller Albright, in the New England Medical Journal, says:

"The Stone Clinic represents an effort to learn more about the prevention of kidney stones by a combined study of the problem by the interne or general physician, the chemist, and the urinologist (specialist in kidney and bladder diseases). There are undoubtedly many factors which influence the formation of stones—stasis (sluggish circulation), or insufficient amount of vitamins, lack of colloids infection (from various parts of the body), lack of (matter or substance in a glue-like condition), excess of crystalloids (matter or substance in a crystal form) in the urine, and so forth."

The thought then in investigating stones is that a urine of a certain composition precipitates or manufactures a stone composed largely of the substances thrown down by or precipitated by this certain type of urine — cystine stone, uric acid stone, calcium phosphate stone. This being the case then, medical treatment consists in trying to reduce the manufacture of the substances forming the stone by the urine, or to try to change the composition of the urine so as to keep the substances solvent or in a more liquid condition and thus prevent them forming a solid stone.

The first step in the treatment is to find out the type of stone that is present. If there is no material —sand or fine gravel—that can be examined, the X-ray, diet or eating habits, the composition of the urine and size of stones may offer some evidence as to the kind of stones present.

Dr. Albright states that taking large amounts of fluids is ideal treatment for all kinds of stone. This keeps material in fluid state and has a flushing-out effect.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

The Characters

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.

René Geiss, a singularly unpleasant cartoonist.

Yesterday: The inquiry into the two murders begins.

Chapter Nine

Geiss Lies

"YOU say," the examining magistrate said at last, "that you had never met the girl, Eve Monet, until she accosted you in the Carlton Bar?"

I nodded. Hugo and I had agreed that the truth was the thing, and the fairy-tale of the Le Touquet meeting could be only too easily disproved, but the peculiar expression in the eyes of the magistrate became more pronounced.

"Think again, Monsieur Lumsden," he begged me. "How unpleasant is it when one is found to have given false information, which impedes the end of justice."

"That's exactly what I'm thinking," I told him truthfully, "and that's why I'm telling you that I never saw the girl in my life before."

He leaned still farther forward, till his face was within a couple of feet of mine. The fat commissaire had also hitched his chair towards me. There was a queer, waiting silence in the room.

"Then how is it," asked the juge very softly, "that you informed Monsieur Geiss that you had not only already met Eve Monet at Le Touquet, but that you also had a rendezvous with her last night after the show? Monsieur Lumsden, I fear that you are not being quite frank with me. And I warn you for your own good that you will do well to speak the truth from now on. Admit that you knew this wretched girl. Admit that you expected to see her last night!"

I controlled my rising temper with difficulty. "Monsieur le Juge," I said, speaking as quietly as I could, "I have told you the truth, and if you don't choose to believe me, you can do the other thing. I admit that I told Monsieur Geiss that I had met the girl before, but that was because I considered his questions about her were a trifle impertinent, and I thought it would serve him right if I kidded him. Devil take it!" I added wrathfully. "One would think you suspected me of killing the girl, when you know very well that the man who did it got clear away after shooting down O'Donnell."

The little man sat back in his chair. For the first time I was conscious of a certain uneasiness.

"Not so fast, my young friend," he said quietly. "You do yourself no good by shouting. I make no accusation against you, but there are certain facts that you should hear before you speak again. First, it is by no means certain that the same person murdered O'Donnell and Eve Monet, for the bullets that killed them were of different calibers. That found in the girl's body was fired from a small automatic, while the American was shot down by a large revolver, probably a Colt. Unfortunately, as yet we have found neither of the guns, and still more unfortunately neither you nor your friend were searched before leaving the casino. If you had been, the absence of weapons on your persons would have been most helpful evidence."

Nothing But The Truth

I STARED at him, completely stupefied. "Look here," I said at last, "let's get this clear: You say the shots were fired from different guns, and therefore you presume they were fired by different people. Is that correct?"

He spread out his hands deprecatingly. "We presume nothing," he protested. "We only search for the truth, and the truth, apparently, Monsieur Lumsden, is what you will not give us."

I was so angry that I could have taken him by the collar and shaken him. "Would it be too much to ask you what else you want from me, apart from the admision that I knew the girl?" I demanded, hearing my own voice ominously quiet.

He nodded gravely. "But yes, there is another question. How, when you deny that you had ever met the unfortunate, were you able to inform Monsieur Geiss of her acquaintance with Monsieur Stahl, Monsieur Venner, and Monsieur Rakovsky? I am aware that you told Monsieur le Commissaire here that Monsieur Geiss had given you the information, but Monsieur Geiss assures me that it was not so—it was you who told him."

At that I completely lost my temper. "Monsieur le Juge," I said, "that's a damned lie. I had never heard of these three gentlemen in my life until Monsieur Geiss mentioned their names. I had never met the girl before yesterday morning, and that's the truth and the whole truth. If you don't choose to believe me—if you take Monsieur Geiss's word against mine—that's your funeral, not mine. Now, is there anything more you want from me? Because if not, I'll be going."

He sighed, shrugged and got to his feet. "I must warn you, Monsieur Lumsden—speaking not as an official, but as an older and wiser man—that you are taking a course for which I think you will be sorry. I understand that you are staying with Monsieur Stern? You realize, of course, that for the moment you must not leave Cannes?"

I glared at him. "For my own satisfaction I shouldn't dream of leaving until you've found the murderer." I swung on my heel and marched out through the farther door.

From the fact that neither Geiss or the Baron had reappeared in the waiting-room, I had already guessed that there must be a second exit to the place of inquisition, and now I found myself at the head of a stone stairway that led directly down to the entrance. As I walked down the stairs, I reflected that it was as well as I had not met Geiss again, for if I had I should certainly have broken his neck.

I was still raging as I came out into the square, but a brisk stroll up the empty, shuttered main street and down through a maze of by-ways did a lot to restore my equilibrium, and by the time I came out into the Allées de la Liberté I was in a more normal frame of mind. I sat down at a café table that commanded a view of the entrance to the Hôtel de Ville and prepared to wait for Hugo.

'A Nervous Wreck'

I WAS just starting on my second glass of beer when he appeared, but I left it to its fate and sprinted after him. He halted as I came up and mopped his forehead.

"Phew!" said he. "I was never built to tell stories outside the covers of a book. Why the devil did we ever attempt to pull Geiss's leg? He's got back at us good and proper, and what with keeping quiet about poor Pat's message and trying to clear you as far as the girl is concerned, I'm all of a dither."

"You've heard the story he's circulating?" I inquired, and he nodded.

"Certainly I've heard it. For the last ten minutes I've been saying nothing but 'No, sir; no, sir; no,' to all they said to me." He took my arm and drew me along the quay to where the Hispano lay. "You're surprisingly cool about it," he added resentfully. "Myself, I feel a nervous wreck. By the way, it seems she was a foundling adopted at the age of twelve by some American vaudeville artists who took her to the Argentine. Nothing more was heard of the girl until she landed back in France last February, and the rest of the tale we know. You see, you were right and I was wrong. My beautiful dream of a finely-bred young American was all moonshine, and the Yankee accent was superimposed on the French one after all."

He broke off sharply. "And who the devil," he demanded with a change of tone, "is adorning my motor-car?"

I looked. The Hispano stood before us, sleek and black in the shadow of the old houses that bordered the quay; and reclining against one fender was an elegant figure in scarlet shorts and a green and white checked shirt.

The creature's eyes were shaded by a visor; his feet were encased in gaudy espadrilles and as we came up to him I smelled a powerful odor of verbena, radiating apparently from the well-oiled ripples of his hair.

"It's only Jean-François," I informed Hugo. "Disguised as an Amazon parrot. Well, my young friend, what have you been up to?"

The lad smiled coyly. "It is better, this costume, no?" he inquired. "Dressed so, I am not so conspicuous."

I gasped. "In a sense, I suppose you're not," I admitted, "but what the devil are you doing here?"

"I assure Monsieur I have not been idle. I have ranged myself with Grandmamma. She gives me the bed; she is deaf, dumb, and blind about my movements; and, best of all, I have the key of the door!"

He fished in the recesses of his skimpy nether garment and produced what looked like the key of Windsor Castle.

"I transmit my compliments to your grandmother," I said, "but in the meantime what brings you here?"

He came a step nearer, standing on tiptoe to bring his lips to my ear. "Urgent news!" he breathed. "Fifteen minutes back, Monsieur Geiss came hastening to the garage where his car lies, ordered it to be filled, and drove away furiously up the route d'Antibes."

"Interesting," I commented. "And what next?"

He hesitated, his sloe-black eyes searching my face with a curiosity that was more than tinged with anxiety. "Next," he said reluctantly, "I must report that it is a matter of common talk among my colleagues of the press that very shortly — within the week — you, monsieur, will be arrested for the murder of Eve Monet!"

AGRIGRAPHS

The Cortland apple is becoming one of the more important varieties grown in New York state.

Late summer, when the cover crop is seeded, is the best time to apply lime on land that needs it for growing vegetables.

August is a good time for a neighborhood or community flower show, and Cornell Bulletin E-316 has many suggestions on staging large or small shows. A single copy may be had free from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

Liquid skimmilk or buttermilk is a valuable supplement to the regular ration of hens during the summer, and helps to keep the hens in condition.

"P-SS-S-T—!" By BRESSLER

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Country visitors get to see more or what there is to see in this town in their usual three days' stay than the average native sees in a whole lifetime.

That may sound foolish but I have run into more than one sample of native Washingtonian who never has set foot on the White House grounds although they are open every day. Even part of the White House may be visited by casual folk during forenoons from 10 to 12.

A neighbor of mine has lived 50 years in Washington — was born here—and in that time has repeatedly toured the country east and west, inspecting "spots" in San Francisco, New York and New Orleans. But he has never seen the Senate in session, has never seen President Roosevelt (and says he doesn't want to), and was in the Smithsonian Institution only once, when a visiting relative insisted on being taken there.

Home Town Pride

AFTER lunch the other day a young engineer walked with me past the White House and remarked that in 11 years in Washington he never had set foot in the building, although he had wanted to ever since coming. By the time he gets off work, the major federal activities also have shut down.

"Why don't you take a couple of days of your vacation and see the town?"

The idea seemed to appeal to him for a moment, but suddenly he blurted:

"People would think I was crazy."

So instead he will go to New York again for half his vacation and spend the rest on the seashore. Arriving in New York he will meet New Yorkers boarding trains for Washington to see the White House and ride up to the top of Washington Monument.

When I made that observation to a New York friend one time he well nigh cut me down.

"You don't see any New Yorkers leaving this town to visit Washington," he said. "Those are just trainloads of homesick Washington yokels heading for home."

Cool Subject Encore

ONCE before it was written in this column that the air cooling systems in the big federal buildings are not all that could be asked as promoters of health. A physician said that since they were installed his summer practice has increased remarkably — sore throats and colds. The federalisti stay cool as cream until mid-afternoon when they plunge out into blistering temperatures to go home. The shock gets them.

The new Interior building is worst. Honest, they chill the help in that place until the stenographers have frost on 'em. Secretary Ickes didn't go to Alaska to see the scenery. He went up there to get warm.

This travelog can't be ended without your hearing of Louis Bean. He came from Odessa, Russia, a number of years ago, unable to speak English. Now he has a string of degrees and is statistical adviser to Secretary Wallace of Agriculture. He was chatting with Secretary Wallace and an undersecretary recently before leaving for New Orleans on departmental business.

"Louis," said the under-secretary, "if you'll come to my office before you go I'll give you a hot list of telephone numbers."

Secretary Wallace smiled and asked Bean:

"Louie, what would you do with a list of telephone numbers?"

"Oh," grinned Louie the Statistician, "I'd add 'em all together and divide by 10."

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK — People occasionally write me letters and when they do I answer them as best I can. I am not a good letter writer. My letters seem forced and are never as clever as I wish them to be. But I write them just the same. And when they seem less satisfactory than usual I try to take consolation in the old bromide that writers aren't supposed to be good correspondents anyway.

But that isn't very convincing—not when you have letters in your files from people who can really write letters, people like Phil Stong and Jim Tulley. When you read your own letters after reading theirs it makes you wince.

MY FRIENDS tell me I am silly for wasting time on individual letters to people who ask questions about New York. They say: "You ought to have your secretary knock out a form letter, a sort of thank-you note and let it go at that. That's all that's necessary."

But I am not of this opinion. When someone takes the trouble to write a personal letter I think he is entitled to a prompt and considered reply. I have not always lived up to this but I believe it just the same. And I doubt that a rubber stamp is altogether satisfactory to a man who inquires: "Are the horse cars still running on 14th street? And what hotel would you recommend when I come to New York on my vacation?"

I think if I were to write someone a letter and it went unacknowledged I would experience a secret twinge of embarrassment. I wouldn't say anything about it but I would resent it just the same. And for that reason I am wondering what Mrs. R. S., of Berkeley, and Mr. R. H. S. of St. Paul must think of me today. Not much, I imagine. For this is what happened: Today while transferring a lot of bric-a-brac to a new desk I came across letters from these people, letters received months ago and still unanswered.

I THINK if they could view the nameless purgatory of this old desk, they would understand how ANYTHING might get lost in there—a goat, an old auto, anything! And that's what I told them. I wrote them at once, explaining everything as best I knew how. But the letters weren't very convincing. They sounded mighty thin. And if I were either of them I doubt if I would believe them myself.

To those of my comrades who recommend rubber-stamps I can only say Phooey! It isn't a very good word. Not nearly strong enough. But under the circumstances it's the best I can hope to get by with here.

Waverly, N. Y. (AP).—Quiet will reign in the village of Waverly Saturdays after midnight or else—. Numerous complaints of revelry in the early hours of Sunday morning caused Mayor J. C. Drake to request proprietors of licensed drinking establishments to close at midnight. They said they would cooperate. Hereafter those making undue noise after Saturday midnight will be arrested for disorderly conduct, the mayor said.

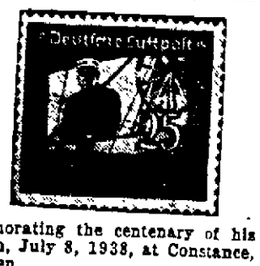

Hornell, N. Y. (AP).—Farmers in this section are complaining that the recent hot weather was so bad that tomatoes were cooked on the vine. Morris O'Connor brought two partly-cooked tomatoes into a newspaper office for exhibition and said much of his crop was similarly affected.

The World Of Stamps

By James B. Hatcher

In 1898, Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin was experimenting with dirigibles. His work, and that of A. S. Dumont, paved the way for the development of the modern airship.

Germany has honored the count (or graf) for his invention by issuing, early in July, a set of two attractive airmail stamps commemorating the centenary of his birth, July 8, 1938, at Constance, Baden.

The 25-pfennig blue shows the count standing in the gondola of one of his early rigid airships. An outline drawing of the cigar-shaped craft appears below.

The 50-pfennig green carries an upward view of the underside of a modern zeppelin, showing the streamlined cabin. This stamp carries an outline sketch of the modern dirigible.

A good portrait of Count von Zeppelin appeared on the 3-mark airmail stamp which Germany issued in 1934. One of his dirigibles may be seen in the background on this stamp.

China to Honor F. D. R.

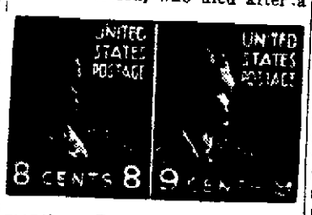

Around the first of the year a Guatemala stamp pictured President Roosevelt. It was one of four stamps in that miniature sheet hailing the 150th anniversary of the U. S. Constitution. Now it is reported that the President's head will next appear, together with that of Gen Chiang Kai-shek on a set of four Chinese stamps.

The proposed Chinese issue will be to commemorate the establishment of transpacific telephone service. The denominations will be 5, 25and 50 cents and $1.

New Album Personalities

Two "new" Presidents for the album, whose busts will appear on the 8- and 9-cent stamps of the presidential series, due August 11 and 18, are Martin Van Buren and William Henry Harrison.

Van Buren (1782-1862) was the eighth President, occupying the White House from 1837 to 1841. Harrison, who died after a month as President in 1841, was the son of Benjamin Harrison, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He was born in 1773.

The 7-cent Andrew Jackson Stamp went on sale at Washington August 4.

Five more stamps in this set will be issued during September, as follows:

Presiden' Tyler, 10-cent pink, September 2; Polk, 11-cent blue, September 8; Taylor, 12-cent purple, September 14; Fillmore, 13-cent green, September 22, and Harding, $2 black and green, September 29.

All will have first-day sales in Washington.

Temptation!

As a general rule I let my head
Select safe paths for my feet to tread;
But once in a while I shut my eyes,
And follow my heart where danger lies.

Boy—Lady, if you'll give us a nickel, my brother will imitate a hen.

Lady—What will he do, cackle like a hen?

Boy (in disgust)—Naw, he wouldn't do a cheap imitation like that. He'll eat a worm.

Read it or not—Hollywood's stocking bills amount to $250,000 a year.

Two men were walking across a prairie in Canada.

Hearing a noise like thunder behind them they turned and saw a wild bull charging toward them. They ran as they had never run before, one eventually making a successful leap into branches of a tree while the other slipped into a convenient hole.

His first charge proving unsuccessful, the bull, seeing the man in the hole standing up, turned and charged him again. This happened on several occasions until the man in the tree shouted: "If you keep doing that the bull will keep us here all day!"

His companion's reply was terse: "I'll tell you something you didn't know. There's a bear down this hole, too."

A doctor and a new acquaintance met in a restaurant and began discussing their families. Said the physician's friend:

Friend: So you and your sister are twins, Doctor?

Doctor—We used to be—she is now five years younger than I am.

The Set of the Sails

One ship drives east, and another west,
With the self-same winds that blow;
'Tis the set of the sail,
And not the gales,
Which decides the way to go.
Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate,
As we voyage along through life;
'Tis the will of the soul
That decides the goal,
And not the calm of the strife.

Sometimes a man can best be judged by his objectives. What he is does not matter so much as what he wants to be.

Friend—What does that young boy of yours do?

Man—He's a girl scout.

Friend—You mean a boy scout?

Man—No, he is always out scouting for girls.

The most enjoyable "inside stuff" we know of is the filling of a pie.

A sailor was picked as a "sure winner" over an army man in a wrestling match. However, the army man won the bout in record time.

Friend—How did you come to beat that sailor?

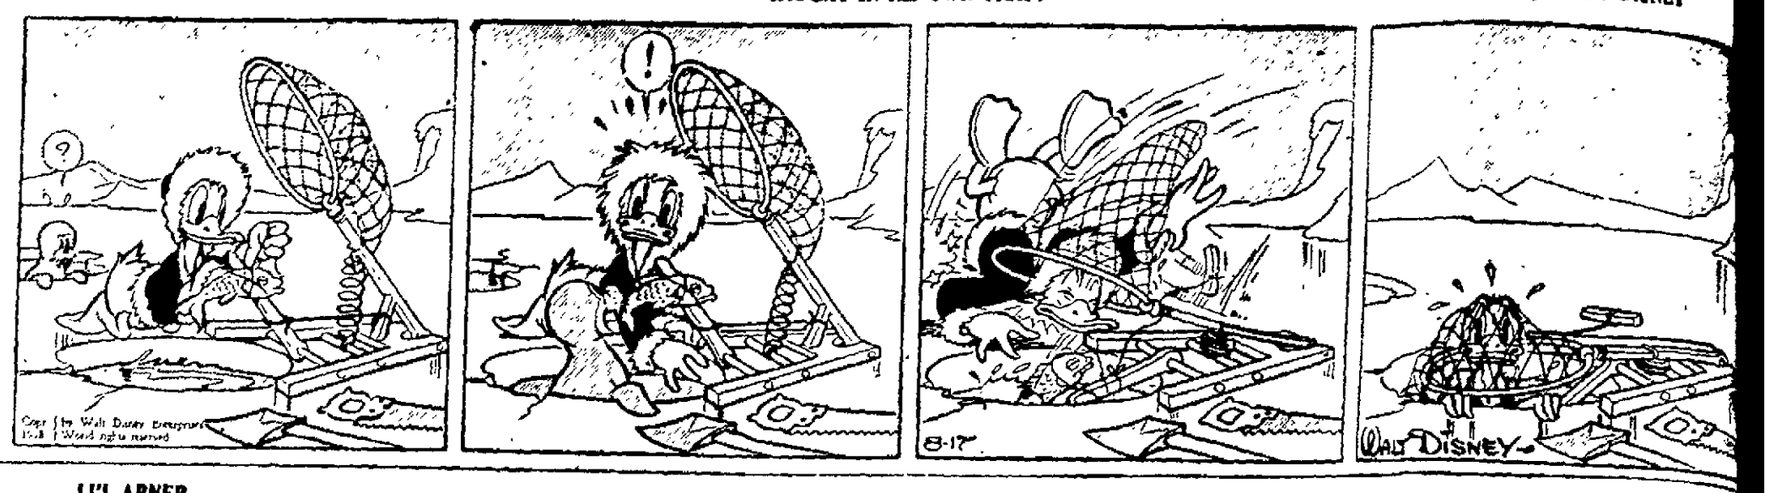

Army Man—Well, you see, I'm a little superstitious, and as he's a salt I decided to throw him over my left shoulder.

About the only thing that gives a man any comfort these days is a pair of old shoes.

HOLLYWOOD—One of the cruelest of movie practices—ahoy, you government investigators!—is the big welcome and publicity given every pretty newcomer to the lots.

The girl steps off the train or plane, contract in one hand, new bunch of roses in the other. The flash bulbs flare as she gets the Big Greeting, and then she's whisked off triumphantly in a luxurious studio car, presumably to plunge into the Glamor Pond for a big splash. She feels like a queen and she is one—for a day.

Maybe it even lasts a week. Bubbling with excitement, she goes to the still gallery and they take enough pictures to fill a catalogue. The lensers take her to the beach and snap her in "play poses"—if the legs are passable—and pretty soon she sees her picture in the papers—if the legs are knockouts. And then she goes to training school. Or she just waits. Or both.

TWO months ago I talked to Dorothy Comingore. She'd just been signed after a scramble in which three studios participated. She was the girl Chaplin applauded at the Carmel little theater. From all the excitement I figured she'd go into a picture the next week at the latest.

Saw her again the other day, visiting the "Angels With Dirty Faces" set and watching Cagney and O'Brien work. She looked wistful when I asked her what was up. "I don't know when I'll get a part," she said. "I wish I did."

Cagney overheard. "Don't worry," he comforted. "They have to 'discover' you about a dozen times before it takes."

It's the waiting that's torture. I've a hunch Dorothy—they're calling her Linda Winters now—is going to click. But for one of her there are dozens of others who get the same build-up only to find themselves ushered out—at the end of the first contract period—via the back door.

A REFINED form of this common cruelty is that reserved for the girls they are "saving for something big."

Director William Keighley told me about a girl he'd spotted as a possibility and tested, using extreme care so that her dramatic deficiencies could be overshadowed by her photographic beauty. The test was so good they signed her with flag-waving.

Some time later Keighley thought of the girl for a small role in one of his pictures.

"Oh, you can't have her for that!" he was told. "We're saving her for something big!"

"Something big," in this case, turned out to be the gate.

Waterloo, N. Y. (AP)—They can handle the "span of life" from birth to death in one block on Main street here. In the block live three physicians, a clergyman, two undertakers and a coroner—and there's also a hospital.

Albany Delegates Fix Friday As Day for End of Convention

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Debate on a Republican proposal carving new legislative districts rocked New York's adjournment-bound constitutional convention today, Democrats assailing it as a "swindle" and Republicans terming it "sound."

A vote on advancement to order of final action, usually equivalent to approval for submission to the November electorate, appeared unlikely before nightfall.

Meantime, leaders ordered "full speed ahead" after adoption of a resolution fixing 5 p. m. (EST) on Friday for final adjournment amid these developments:

A November election campaign issue emerged as the Republican-controlled conclave rejected 63 to 76, a measure to guarantee state ownership and control of water power resources, favored by Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

Defeat for a second time, 63 to 74, of a measure to strike out the constitutional ban on gambling after rejection of a suggested amendment to bar the state from conducting lotteries.

The Real Estate Taxpayers' Federation assailed the proposed amendment authorizing low-cost housing projects as a "fraud and a sham" unless an amendment is adopted to prevent the taxing of home and property owners to finance them.

Opponents of a proposal to extend civil service preference to veterans cited a statement by Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., State Health Commissioner, asserting the quality of government service would deteriorate if it is approved.

Republican leaders predicted a solid party vote for the re-apportionment proposal, which increases assembly districts from 150 to 159 and senate seats from 51 to 53.

In addition, Queens county Democratic delegates prepared to vote for the measure because of the increased representation proposed for that county.

Eighty-five votes are necessary for final adoption of the measure. Republicans have 92 of the 168 votes.

Three City Parks To Have Program

The Community Night schedule of the Department of Recreation hits a new high tonight with programs operating at three playgrounds, Cornell, Barmann and Loughran.

The first Community Night ever to be held at Cornell Park will be given tonight. Enthusiasm is running high among both the children and parents in the downtown neighborhood, forecasting an unusually successful program.

The playground directors, Evelyn Winfield and Conrad Kantzler have been fortunate in obtaining the services of the Oulton children, well-known local entertainers. A special presentation of "The Schoolroom," a skit which has been performed throughout this section of the state by the Oultons with great success will undoubtedly be the highlight of the program.

A specialty dance by Buddy and Mary Oulton, winners of the inter-playground entertainment competition last year, together with songs and dances by other playground children, a pie-eating contest, and novelty contest in the wading pool will complete the program. The evening's activities will open at 6:30 with a volleyball game.

Barmann Park Contest

Barmann Park, too, is featuring a pie-eating contest this evening. Along with this, the Hilo Hawaiians, who have made such a hit this summer at the midtown park, will be on hand again to entertain, bringing with them this time a soloist, Harvey Decker, whose debut last week was washed out by the rain.

Fred Van Deusen, local magician is making a return engagement at Barmann Park with an entirely new group of his endless repertoire of magic. Shirley Riehl, popular playground singer, and many of the smaller children, will also take part in the program.

During the evening, the mothers and daughters will hold a cake and candy sale. The talking pictures will be shown at this playground, and will include the following pictures:

"We're On Our Way," "Movie Mad," a "Flip the Frog" cartoon, "Key to Scotland," and another in the series of musical pictures, the pictorial biography of Verdi, the famous composer.

Campfire at Loughran

At Loughran Park tonight the program will be in the form of a campfire, with group singing, instrumental entertainment, and a spelling bee. The playground directors suggest that children and parents bring marshmallows and take part in the marshmallow roast. A father-son competition in both softball and horseshoe pitching will precede the campfire.

The Clarke Radio Service sound car will be on hand with amplifying facilities at Cornell Park, while Dave Freer will have his amplifying system at Barmann Park.

Mrs. Walter Falk spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Peter Moose.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freleigh, and grandmother, Mrs. Anna Myer, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Wolven Saturday evening.

Four Men Held For Grand Jury

Justice of the Peace John Acker of East Kingston held four men charged with possession of policy slips to await action of the grand jury when they were arraigned Tuesday night.

The four held are Michael Goffredi, Jr., of 77 Pearl street; Ray Ross of 159 Bruyn avenue, James Carroll of West Hurley and Sam Gordon of Passaic, N. J. The men were arrested several days ago in a raid at the parking grounds at Huling's Barn in the town of Ulster, when deputy sheriffs charged the four men met at the spot to check up on slips. Bail was set at $250 each.

Hasbrouck Park To Have Concert

The second annual Models and Kite Flying Contest of the Department of Recreation will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Hasbrouck Park. Children from all the city parks will display all types of models, including flying airplane models, in this inter-playground competition.

Homemade and purchased kites will soar over the upper level of Hasbrouck Park as their owners vie for the annual city kite-flying championships. Kites will be judged on the basis of height reached in a specified time, distance, construction of homemade models, and also on the basis of novelty of construction.

'Who's Next?' Stirs Political Speculation

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—Addition of Senator Millard Tydings (D.-Md.) and Rep. John O'Connor (D.-N. Y.), to President Roosevelt's personal "purge list" left capital politicians wondering today whether he would denounce other anti-administration congressmen.

Speculation centered principally on Senator E. D. Smith (D.-S. C.). The President did not mention Smith's name last week in an appeal at Greenville, S. C., for election of liberal legislators, but some persons thought he might do so before the primary August 30.

The only other Senate race in which he might take a hand is in Connecticut. Senator Augustine Lonergan, who voted against some White House bills, is endorsed by Attorney General Cummings, and most politicians consider it unlikely the President will intervene.

Mr. Roosevelt announced his opposition to Tydings and O'Connor—and support of their New Deal opponents—at a press conference yesterday. Previously he had asked the voters of Georgia to defeat Senator Walter F. George.

MacFadden Enters Race

Cleveland, Aug. 16 (AP)—Bernarr MacFadden, wealthy New York publisher, celebrated his 70th birthday by flying his new racing plane to Cleveland today and entered the National Air Races starting here September 3. He entered to compete in the Bendix Derby from Los Angeles to Cleveland. Frank Cordova of Mineola, N. Y., accompanied him and will compete against him in the race. They planned to fly on to Los Angeles tomorrow.

He loved the girl so much she worshipped the very ground she walked on. Her father had just struck oil.

dermen Lose to Firemen by 4 to 3

lthough they put up a hard t on the softball diamond at sbrouck Park last night, the dermen bowed to the Paid Fire- n by the score of 4-3.

Fred Renn, alderman from the h Ward, was the victim of ged support, and otherwise ght have fared better. The fire- n were a bit weak in their lding also, but gave Dan annonball" Noble better sup- rt than Renn received from his mmates.

Several sensational plays by ynamite" Maines and Fitz- rald featured the play of the oke Eaters.

Dick Weeks was a bit mixed up his base running for the Fire- en and earned the name of Corrigan" because he went the rong way.

erman Runner Bothers Americans

Dresden, Germany, Aug. 17 (AP) —Rudolf Harbig, Germany's fine middle-distance runner, continues o give the touring American rack and field athletes plenty of rouble.

Despite the fact that the in- aders took eight of 14 events esterday, Harbig again beat Charlie Beetham of Columbus, O., ormer Ohio State star, in the 00-meters run. It was close all he way and both runners were aught in the same time, 1:52 4.

Harley Howells of Ohio State ame through in the 400 in 48.4. Mozel Ellerbe of Tuskegee Insti- ute was another star, taking the 100 meters in 10.6 and the 200 meters in 21.3.

Bill Lynch, New York hammer hrower, was unplaced in his specialty.

Two Jockeys Are In the Hospital

Chicago, Aug. 17 (AP)—Two jockeys rested in a hospital today, one in a serious condition, after the worst spill of the season at the Washington Park race track.

Clayton Perkins, Cairo, Neb., suffered a brain concussion and possible fractured skull in the second race yesterday. Usay, his mount, fell and threw him as the field turned into the stretch. Hospital attaches said Perkins' condition was fair.

Eugene Myers of Chicago, astride Blanch G., which was just behind Usay, received a broken collar bone when his mount also went down. His condition was reported fairly good.

The New York Yankees, a team of one-man tradition, are pulling together now, and as a result they're quite likely to win the American League pennant by a margin big enough to satisfy even Col. Jacob Ruppert.

It used to be "as Ruth goes, so go the Yankees." Then Joe DiMaggio had his turn at "sparking" them. This season, they're just a fine ball club that appears unbeatable, now that everyone has started playing championship ball at once.

The Yank mound corps was good enough to keep them in the running while the hitters weren't doing so well. Now they're still able to refute the old argument that the Yanks merely overpower the opposition, even though there's plenty of overpowering being done.

Win Double

Lefty Gomez and Charley Ruffing didn't need all the runs they got yesterday to dispose of the fourth-place Washington Senators. They pitched a pair of six-hitters to win by the comfortable margins of 16-1 and 6-2.

Jake Powell, back from the ten-day suspension that resulted from his remarks during a radio interview, probably also could have dispensed with a few pop bottles that came his way. He was subjected to a glass shower that caused a five minute delay so the field could be cleared during the second game.

The Yankees had a nine-run fourth inning in the opener, and DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig hit homers.

Eight Game Lead

The twin triumph stretched New York's lead to eight games as Cleveland took a single contest from the St. Louis Browns, 9-6, to give Mel Harder his tenth mound victory. The Athletics drove Boston's Red Sox still deeper into third, beating them 14-11 after belting Jim Bagby for five runs in the first and Dick Mid-kiff for five in the sixth. Two homers by Jimmy Foxx couldn't make up for those two innings. The Chicago White Sox-Detroit clash was rained out.

Manager Pie Traynor of Pittsburgh decided to give some of his weary Pirates a rest and benched Gus Suhr and Al Todd in favor of Bill Brubaker and Ray Berres. Brubaker made three hits, including a homer, and the Bucs walloped Cincinnati 10-0 to stretch their National League lead to five games.

Dodgers Trim Giants

Brooklyn's Dodgers beat the second place New York Giants for the second time in 12 encounters, 7 to 3, combing Harry Gumbert and Dick Coffman for five hits and four runs in the ninth. Chicago's Cubs split a twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the opener 5-4 in eleven innings on Frank Demaree's triple, then losing the second to Curt Davis, 5-2.

Another eleven-inning struggle saw the Phillies beat the Boston Bees 7-6 when Chuck Klein singled home Herschel Martin with the winning run.

Knitters Play The Coolerators

The Kingston Knit Mills softball team, tied with the Kalamazoos in the City League, will meet the Coolerators in a crucial game this evening at 7 o'clock on the Hasbrouck Park diamond. Jimmy Albany and Charlie Manfro will make up the Knitters' battery. Don Wecks or Goggy Boles will pitch for the Coolerators.

Bettina-Everett Bout At Woodcliff Thursday

Last night's rain caused postponement of the Melio Bettina-Buck Everett fight, and the entire card of bouts at Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie. The bouts will go on Thursday night Tommy Zano and Pete Cappy, Kingstonians, are on the card.

Gehrig Better With Old Stance

By DREW MIDDLETON

New York, August 17 (AP).—Lou Gehrig has pulled himself out of the deepest batting slump of his career by changing his stance back to the old Gehrig style.

Once again the iron horse of the Yankees digs in at the plate, stands with his right foot a little ahead of his left, springs his knees and waves his bat with the old motion. As a consequence he has pulled his average to over .290, a new high for the season, hoisted his home run production to 22 and once more become the key man of the Yankees' offense.

When the Yanks opened the season the fans noticed Lou had a new stance. His right foot was over toward first base, his body half turned toward the pitcher.

Almost from the start Lou hit the skids Around the circuit floated rumors: Gehrig's eyes are bad, he's lost his zest for the game, he's slowed down to a walk.

Suddenly on the Yanks' last western tip he switched back to his old batting style. It worked.

Strong Opposition For Coast Players

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP) —Two unseeded 20-year-old San Francisco "giant killers," Virginia Wolfenden and Margaret Osborne, had strong opponents in their path today as the Essex Country Club's invitation tennis tournament reached the quarter finals.

Miss Wolfenden, who had too much endurance yesterday for Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, the third-seeded foreign entry, was matched against Alice Marble, the defending titlist.

Miss Osborne, who out-generaled Mme. Simone Mathieu of France, the top-ranking visitor, ran up against Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline.

A third match in the round of eight pitted Margot Lamb of England, victor over Mrs. Carolyn Babcock Stark of San Francisco, against the hard-hitting Australian Nancy Wynne. Miss Wynne's 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 victory yesterday over Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., was counted an upset.

Anderson Conquers King

RUFUS ANDERSON, No. 23

BOB KING, No. 5

Freeman Photos

Rufus Anderson, Brighton, Mass., midget auto driver on Sunday, August 14, at Woodstock Legion Speedway tasted the sweetness of a two-edged victory at the oval when he won the main event and conquered Big Bob King of Waltham, Mass., New England midget and big car champion. Anderson is shown at top immediately after his victory. On July 17 he crashed in the main race and received a thorough shaking, but aside from bruises, was unharmed.

Big Bob King, who drove the flashy No. 5, made his first appearance Sunday at the speedway. From the time he came out for his time trial King captured the crowd and was voted one of three to race in a special match event. The racers were chosen from a field of eight by popular applause. In the main on Sunday Carl Carlson, Albany driver, finished second. King was third.

Mrs. Sylvia Voss with 83 Leads Northeastern Golfers

Mrs Sylvia Voss, wife of Clarence Voss of Phoenicia, playing under the Woodstock colors smashed the course record yesterday and marked up her fifth straight victory in Northeastern New York Women's Golf Association competition at Schenectady's Edison Club Mrs. Voss, who plays from Woodstock and is the association champion, posted a record of 83, five over par, to lead a field of over 40

Mrs Voss had a seven stroke edge on Miss Betty Mendleson of Colonie Country Club, who turned in a 90 to be second in the scoring The first prize reverted to Miss Mendleson, however, as the result of an association ruling which permits an individual to win the same prize only twice in one season. Mrs. Voss was given third gross prize while second gross award went to Mrs. H. J. Noerling of Columbia Country Club, Hudson, who carded a 91.

Birdie on Second

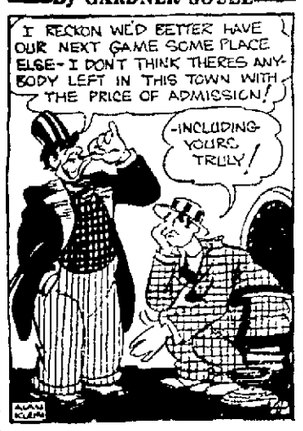

Mrs. Voss played some nice golf to crack the course record by one with a 42 on her out nine. Going stroke. She was three over par out she took a par five on the first hole, a birdie three on the fifth, a par five on the sixth, a bogie four on the seventh, went two over with a seven on the eighth, and took a par five on the ninth.

Starting the second nine, Mrs. Voss was even par on the 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th holes, with a four, a four, a five, a five, a three, a five and a three, respectively. Mrs. Voss went one over par on the 17th with a six, was again forced to card a bogie six on the 18th for her only over pars on the incoming nine.

"Skunk is a fine pet while it is still young," says a headline. That is, until it gets old enough to have scents.

Baseball's Fifty 99 Years

By GARDNER SOULE

NEW YORK'S first National League game was played on April 25, 1876, between the Mutuals and the Boston Red Stockings. The favored Mutuals lost, 7-6, causing much disappointment because so many New Yorkers lost money on the outcome of the contest.

Singles Trip Husbands 13-10

The 8th ward single men nosed out the married men Tuesday by a score of 13-10. Highlight of the game was a homer by "Hanker" Clarke with the bases loaded. "Cappy" Hutton hit the circuit for the losers. B. Baker was on the mound for the winners with M. Dickson behind the plate. "Larapin Lou" Schwartz and F. Baker formed the battery for the losers.

Mulloy and Riggs Coming To Woodstock Sunday

By Joe Kelly

That Bettina-Everett fight rained out at Woodcliff Park has been postponed until Thursday night. . . . Tommy Zano, Pete (Caprotti) Cappy and Eddie Steele, former local amateur, are on the card. . . . Tomorrow night is softball night for the ladies at Madison Square Garden. . . . Commissioner Bill Brown was sore about the postponement at Woodcliff Park last night. . . . "Couldn't you dry off the seats and hold this boxing show?" he asked. . . . But, who would have been there to look on? . . . Jingle, jingle little dimes, guess we'll wait for fairer times. . . . The promoters' slogan. . . . And who can blame them.

"One of the best showmen in the business." . . . This was Manager Dewey Fragetta's description of Benny Leonard before the fights last Friday night. . . . And the ex-champ lived up to it. . . . "These fans in Kingston surely get their money's worth," said Benny as he completed refereeing. . . . Before going on, he sat in the bleachers and watched his old pal, Bill Singer, act as third man. . . . That tennis match between Bobby Riggs, U. S. star, and Gardner Mulloy, another expert at the net sport, will take place in Woodstock on Sunday afternoon, August 21, according to latest announcements. . . . There should be some gallery at the art colony courts. . . . Those matches slated in the Ulster county tournament last night were washed out.

As soon as Baron Von Cramm, the tennis star, gets out of prison in Germany, he is expected to turn pro and dash over here for a cash and carry tour. . . . Little Bill Parquette, Harvard passing specialist of a few years back, leaves soon for Istanbul, Turkey, to teach math at an American endowed college. . . . Jimmy Wilson, of the Phils, had his greatest season with a black bat he bought in a drug store for 98 cents. . . . The drug store then went out of business and Jimmy broke the bat. . . . The St. Louis Browns should sue if the Yanks don't cut them in on the World Series dough. . . . All the Brownies have done in the last two weeks is virtually knock Cleveland and Boston out of the pennant race by winning a double header from each. . . . Coach Ray Flaherty of the Washington Redskins is getting the heebie jeebies. . . . He has two Bonds, two Youngs, two Smiths and a pair of Krauses now training with his squad. . . . Al Laney of the Herald-Tribune, who tabbed Fred Perry for tennis greatness when the Britisher still was five years away, says the same of the youthful Eric Filby, also an Englishman and now campaigning here. . . . Babe Ruth and Lyn Lary of the Indians are known as the best tippers in the Chicago hotel where most of the big leaguers hang up their hats

MARIO SEVERINO

It'll just be too bad if Mario Severino loses his last amateur fight Friday night. . . . But, Carmine Fatta, Newburgh Golden Gloves star, says that's the way their scrap will end. . . . in a defeat for Mario. . . . "I think I really beat him the last time, and I'm out to show that I can do it, regardless of whether he thinks he's ready for the pros," said Fatta. . . . Severino is headed for the Lou Ambers stable next week to box under the direction of Al Weill. . . . The Severino-Fatta match is expected to pack 'em in at the auditorium, both boys being popular.

Van Alstyne vs. Stevens Promises Action Galore on Friday Night's Card Here

Big Chance for Kyanize Against Hedricks Tonight

Jack Dawkins' Kyanize and Fred Baumgarten's Hedricks collide tonite at 6 o'clock on the Athletic Field in the dream game of the City League first half schedule. With the first half championship at stake, this evening's twilight tilt is expected to attract one of the largest assemblages of the season Both teams are primed to win and another in the series of hard-fought frays is on tap.

Kyanize can cop the first half bunting tonight by conquering the Brewers. A loss by the Grocers and a victory in the replay of the 1-1 tie with Closis will enable the rampaging Stone Ridgers to take the first half bunting. A split for the Brewers in the two crucial clashes will cause a three-way tie between Jones Dairy, Kyanize and Baumgarten's boys.

Neff vs. Sluggers

Charley Neff, Brewers' meal ticket, will match his pitching prowess against the Kyanize powerhouse. Neff's fireball eked out a 1-0 victory in a sensational diamond duel and the Stone Ridge slinger will be out to repeat his feat Baumgarten's boys have played heads-up ball behind the inspired hurling of their smoke-ball artist in recent starts Bill Thomas or Schoolboy Bush will be the mound nominee of Jack Dawkins for tonight's tangle Bush dropped a six-hit twirling effort to the Lager Kings in the last set-to Kyanize, with the pennant bunting waving in their faces, will shoot the works against Hedricks A win for the Grocers will wind up the first half and the sugar and salt sluggers will turn on the power against Neff Hedricks, making an uphill fight for championship laurels, will make great strides toward the pennant by taking tonight's fracas. A win for the Brewers tonight leaves Closis as the lone threat to the Brewers titular hopes

Bush or Thomas will do the flinging for Kyanize with Gene Rider behind the plate. The Grocers' inner defense will have Bing Van Etten on first, Charley Bock and Bob Sickler as the keystone combination and Ad Stumpf at the hot corner. Tony Debrosky, Pres Knight and Tommy Maines round out the slugging outfield patrol. Baumgarten will probably line up Neff with Paulie Rask as the battery and Cragan, Fisher, "Red" McLean and Muller in the infield. LaPolt, Frank Neff and Hokie Rask will roam the pastures.

Last Saratoga Sales Tonight

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug 17 (AP)—Only eight yearlings and some breeding stock remain to be sold at the Saratoga sales in the last session tonight, but last night's selling assured the best year since 1930.

A consignment of 34 head from the estate of Admiral Cary T. Grayson, J. J. Cleveland, Meadowview Farms, the Penn Farm Corporation and others were sold for $66,425. This brought the totals to 550 head of potential race horses sold for $1,300700. The average price has been $2,365.

In 1930, 660 head sold for $1,760,070 to average $2,667. Last year 528 yearlings sold for $1,260,225 with an average slightly higher than the 1938 crop, $2,387.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, owner of the Milky Way Farm, made two purchases last night to become the top individual buyer of the season. A chestnut son of Imp. Teddy-Mistress Grier out of the Meadowview lot went to Mrs. Mars for $5,400 and she also gave $4,900 for a chestnut filly by Man O' War out of Idle Spell.

William Ziegler, Jr., went to $6,000 for a chestnut son of Imp. Teddy-Sweetheart. It was the highest price of the night.

During the 11 nights of selling, Mrs. Mars bought 14 head of yearlings for $92,000, paying the exceptionally high average of $6,571 per head. Last year she bought 17 head for $124,100.

Budge Seems to Have Firm Grasp on Newport Trophy

Newport, R. I., Aug. 17 (AP)—It looked today as if the Newport Casino would have to put up a new tennis singles trophy for 1939.

Lanky Don Budge, the red-haired Californian, appeared to have a firm grasp on the third leg he needs to retire the trophy next Saturday.

His game practically at top form, despite a layoff from singles since his recent European invasion, Budge encountered Archie Henderson of Chapel Hill, N. C., today in the fourth round.

The only fault that court observers noticed when Budge went into action yesterday—a lack of control on his forehand drives—the Californian corrected before completing his 6-0, 6-2 elimination of Owen Anderson of Los Angeles, in the third round yesterday.

Previously, in straight sets, he ousted Robert Low of New York without wasted effort.

Three upsets marked yesterday's play. Charles Hare of England, top-seeded foreign entry, was eliminated in the third round by Hal Surface of Kansas City, 6-3, 6-2. The veteran Frenchman, Jacques Brugnon, bowed out to Gardner Mulloy of Miami, in the second round, 6-4,3-6,6-3, and Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., seeded sixth, defaulted to William Murphy of Chicago because of the heat.

Despite the top-heavy foreign entry list, only one invader remained as play reached the fourth round, Yvon Petra of France, who qualified by defeating Ernest Sutter of New Orleans, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

The domestic list still surviving included second-seeded Joe Hunt from Los Angeles; Budge's doubles partner, Gene Mako, another Los Angeles veteran; Willmer Allison of Austin, Tex., Frankie Parker of Beverly Hills, Calif., Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore., and Bryan Grant, Atlanta.

Jones and Knights Are Rained Out

Last night's scheduled contest between Jones Dairy and the K of C, was swept away by the terrific downpour which drenched the city late yesterday afternoon The City League second half tilt was tentatively set back until Monday, August 29, and marks the second postponed affair of the last half Kyanize and Closis clash in the other holdover affair on Monday, August 22

Hedricks and Closis are also tentatively listed for a replay of their first half 1-1 tie If Kyanize fails to come up with a victory over the Hedricks tonight, this contest looms as the crucial clash of the season A Grocer win would naturally eliminate the necessity of staking the delayed first-half tie game

Commencing next Monday, the City League will operate on a full-time five day week program in order to hasten completion of the last half schedule The final round card of games is slated to terminate on September 6, allowing ample time for the Little World Series Anxious to avoid a repetition of the prolonged first half play, hampered by rain and postponements, the final round books but one series of games instead of the customary two tilts.

Armstrong Still Favored Over Lou

New York, Aug 17 (AP) - If they don't melt down and run off in a puddle, Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers will gang up on each other for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight, with Ambers' 135-pound title at stake.

The men with talking money still are offering up to 3-to-1 that Armstrong leaves the ring the holder of the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight championships, the first triple-titled crown wearer in boxing history.

A loud minority, however, is convinced that the up-state Italian will out-leg and out-punch the phenomenal little negro and retain his title, disrupting Armstrong's run of 38 consecutive victories

If Ambers should win, he will not be recognized as the welterweight champion in New York state. The commission pulled the rival managers and Promoter Jacobs in on the carpet yesterday and made them sign an amendment to the original contract, stipulating that "no title except the lightweight is at stake."

Regardless of that, Ambers will claim the 147-pound throne if he wins, and there will be widespread confusion, because the National Boxing Association has served advance notice that it will recognize his claim.

The outcome, in the opinion of most critics, still simmers down to the question of Ambers ability to travel 15 rounds at the terrific pace habitually set by Armstrong. And, of course, his luck in dodging Henry's hammering fists during that time.

It should be a rattling good fight, with Armstrong the probable winner on a fairly close decision.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Pedro Montanez, 136, Puerto Rico., stopped Ray Napolitano, 142½, New York (3).

Houston, Tex.—Billy Deez, 145, San Antonio, knocked out Pancho Villaverde, 148, Phoenix, Ariz., (3).

Los Angeles—Glen Lee, 159¾, Edison, Neb., and Al Romero, 154, Los Angeles, drew (10).

The fight fans of Kingston and vicinity may look at the Mario Severino-Carmine Fatta match on Friday's boxing card, and forget about the other bouts, but regardless of whether they expect it or not, that pairing between Red Van Alstyne and Johnny Stevens should be one of the best duels on the bill at the municipal auditorium.

RED VAN ALSTYNE

Johnny Stevens, the Waterford Walloper, is rated in the same class with Bradley Lewis, although he lacks some of that polish acquired by the national middleweight champ in world-wide travel, and can hit like a heavyweight.

"I'd like to match him with Lewis, only both are working in the same gym now," said Boxing Chairman Ben M. Becker of the Adirondack A. A. U. "I think he'll give Red Van Alstyne one of the hardest tussles the Ravena youngster has had in all his career."

Van Alstyne has fought them all in the amateurs, except Lewis, and if he gets by Stevens he'll probably consider himself ready for the ring of the 160 pounders. Van Alstyne, according to those who have been watching him closely, has improved a lot in the past year as he demonstrated in drubbing Eric Carson here several weeks ago

The Ravena redhead is out to take the measure of Stevens. Stevens will stick to his guns to the last sound of the gong All indications point to a real slugfest, full of action and hard punching.

That main attraction, Severino vs. Fatta, has the fight customers all agog, because they feel certain that conditions upon which the match was made point to nothing less than a typical slam-bang affair Fatta is out to square things after losing to Severino last winter Severino is anxious for victory No. 2, not alone to prove he is superior to the Newburgh star, but just to close his amateur career with a victory before joining the Lou Ambers stable.

Ackerman to Wrestle

There are six boxing matches on the card, and one wrestling match Buddy Ackerman, Saugerties Hercules, will grapple with Charlie Decker, Albany clown bone crusher, in the starter, scheduled for 9 o'clock Last week's match between Ackerman and Marvin Baum gave the fans a thrill as the Saugerties mauler put one over on the Bruiser Boy. Friday's match promises to surpass it when Decker goes to work.

A list of boys on the card, besides those mentioned, includes Frankie Albright, Frankie Burke, Charlie Forezzi, Tommy McGinn, Carmine Circillo and Sonny Smith of Newburg.

Expectations are that there will be a large turnout of fight fans from all along the Hudson valley, many new followers of the sport having been impressed by the calibre of the bouts and the beautiful auditorium last week when they visited the Kingston arena for the first time to see Benny Leonard.

Po'keepsie Team At Boiceville

Next Sunday the Boiceville Rangers will meet Corke's Reynolds from Poughkeepsie. This contest is a grudge match as the Rangers already hold a victory over the highly rated Reynolds. This is the same team that handed the hard hitting Phoenicia club a defeat.

Boiceville will have its best team on hand and either Bud Zoller or D Large will toss for the Rangers. Poughkeepsie has not announced its starting hurler but Stearns, a southpaw, who tossed against Boiceville before, likely will do the flinging.

COMPANION, BOAT IN DODGE HONEYMOON DEATH

Mrs. Lloyd Bryant (left) was in the party with Daniel Dodge, 21, $2,000,000 motor car heir, when he fell from a motor boat (shown at right) as he and his wife of 13 days were being brought across Georgian Bay near Little Current, Ont. Dodge, who drowned, was being rushed to medical aid after injury in a dynamite explosion.

Nation Gets Some Relief From Heat

(By The Associated Press)

The heat wave that has taken a heavy life toll and brought discomfort to millions abated slightly today, and the prospect of scattered showers augured relief for part of the sun-baked eastern seaboard.

In Pennsylvania, nine deaths resulted from the weather in the last three days; Washington, D. C., had 18 hospitalized prostrations yesterday, Baltimore counted six prostrations; but the sweltering heat also had some whimsical aspects.

Weather bureau employes in Washington had a partial holiday yesterday, because of the weather—along with thousands of government clerks.

As the mercury soared to 94 in Pittsburgh—the highest for August 16 since 1888, Rufus Middlebrook reported to police the theft of a fur-lined jacket from his home.

The city water division of Newark complained that 15,000,000 gallons of water were being wasted daily by boys who turned on hydrants to keep cool. The drain, the division said, was threatening water pressure.

A short circuit apparently caused by the heat set off a burglar alarm in New York and caused six police radio cars to rush out on a futile mission.

High humidity added to the nation's discomfort. In the south, the heat wave entered its fourth day. It was 96 yesterday in Lynchburg, Va., and no general relief was in sight for the south.

It was cooler in the middlewest and the Great Lakes region, with scattered rain.

Skies partly cloudy, possible rain and temperature slightly cooler, encouraged heat-fagged New Yorkers.

A lightning recorder in Buffalo, N. Y., showed that 173 bolts struck in a 45 minute disturbance last night.

Assails Mother-In-Law

Baltimore, Aug. 16 (AP)—Robert Bloom asked an injunction today against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Esther Metz, to restrain her from "intermeddling in his marital, domestic, and financial affairs." Bloom asserted he wanted to go to New Rochelle, N. Y., to enter business, but his wife refused to go on her mother's advice.

Miss Marble Advances

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP)—Miss Alice Marble of Beverley Hills, Calif., top-seeded, today became the first to reach the quarter-finals of the 14th annual Essex Country Club women's invitation tennis tournament, by trouncing 20-year-old, unseeded Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3.

Ambers Has Slight Edge

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Lou Ambers, defending champion, held only a quarter-pound advantage over Challenger Henry Armstrong when they weighed in for their lightweight title fight tonight. Ambers weighed 134¼, or ¾ pound less than a week ago when the fight was postponed. Armstrong gained ¾ pound to tip the scales at 131.

Certain Qualities Are Associated With Names

We have a wonderful way of associating certain qualities with certain names. The name becomes fraught, not as the rose is fragrant, but as the clay is fragrant that has long lain with the rose. Two great newspapers took a vote as to the most popular name for a boy and the most popular name for a girl. And in the result the names of John and Mary hopelessly outdistanced all competitors. But why? There is nothing in the name of John or in that of Mary to account for such general attachment. Some names, like Lily, or Rose, or Violet, suggest beautiful images, and are loved on that account. How, then, are we to account for it? Long, long ago, on a green hill far away, there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother, and the disciple whom Jesus loved. And when Mary left that awful and tragic scene, she left it, as Jesus Himself desired that she should leave it, leaning on the arm of John. And because these two were first in the human love of Jesus, their names have occupied a place of special fondness in the hearts of all men ever since.

China's Yellow River Is Life-Giver Like the Nile

"Although a destroyer-in-chief, and justly entitled 'China's Sorrow,' like Egypt's Nile the Yellow river is also a life-giver. Washing rich top soil down from the mountains upon the North China plain, it transforms floods into farm fertility for the next generation. China's 'Sorrow' was also ancient China's cradle of culture," says the National Geographic society. "The Yellow river's rich soil deposits influenced the country's first civilized men to become farmers instead of wandering shepherds. And farmers the Hwang Ho valley inhabitants have remained for 40 centuries. A dragon symbolizing the Hwang Ho is described in a myth as having presented the Chinese people with their alphabet.

"Vital in the country's culture and cultivation, the Hwang Ho is practically useless in transportation. The Yangtze is navigable for steamships more than a thousand miles from its mouth; the Hwang, for about 25 miles. It is either too shallow or too turbulent elsewhere. In the middle third of its course, local shipping moves in flat-bottomed scows and in primitive rafts buoyed with inflated sheepskins and oxhides, much as in the nation's early history."

Classified Its Prisoners

During the World war, the prison in Baku, Russia, thoughtfully set aside two sections for good inmates—with money. The first, according to Collier's Weekly, was the "Grand Hotel," which, for a certain fee, admitted friends, food and furniture. The other was the "Hotel Metropole," which, for a larger sum, permitted its prisoners to live at home, merely asking that they or a representative drop in each morning and evening to answer the roll call.

Sheriff Abram F. Molyneaux has gone in for art and from all appearances "Doc" Smith's Garage on Clinton avenue has been temporarily converted into a livery stable. While art and livery stables are not closely related the happenings at the two places are closely related.

For the past couple of days Van Etten & Hogan's big moving van has been engaged in hauling to the court at the rear of the county court house, a miscellaneous collection of articles including a life size marble statue of the Greek goddess of wisdom and handicraft or invention, Minerva. To the "Doc" Smith garage on Clinton avenue has been hauled a collection of articles including several types of ancient vehicles farm machinery, etc.

Both collections came into being when Sheriff Molyneaux was served with a court order directing that he proceed "forthwith" to remove from the former Willard D. Rockefeller estate at West Park personal property of Mr. Rockefeller which he left there when foreeclosure proceedings were instituted and the property passed out of the possession of Mr. Rockefeller who now is at Perth Amboy.

Minerva Was Expensive

The property was sold at foreclosure and the Christian Brothers at West Park secured title to the premises. On the property was a large collection of personal property of Mr. Rockefeller, including Minerva, whom Mr. Rockefeller claims cost $50,000 when the large marble statue was brought to this country years ago. In compliance with the court order Sheriff Molyneaux secured the services of Van Etten & Hogan, local movers to remove the stuff and store it for safe keeping.

Back of the garage on Clinton avenue is a miscellaneous collection of farm implements, tile, machinery and a most interesting collection of ancient vehicles. Included in the collection are old fashioned high wheel surreys, rubber tired two wheel gigs, a buggy or two, perhaps a brougham, a trap and several other buggies and turn-outs. Some give the appearances of having been "the latest thing in transportation" back in the gay nineties. There are also several sleighs, a bar, a wagon and a few farm implements.

'Pappy' of Trailers

In the collection at the court house beside Minerva is a very unique trailer which from general appearances is the "pappy" of the modern streamlined vehicles. The trailer is a small wooden house mounted on two wheels to be towed from place to place. The house is completely sided up with regulation siding, the doors and windows are regulation house equipment and the vehicle is painted a fine "old Dutch" blue with pretty cream trimmings. Speculation is rife as to whether the vehicle was designed to be drawn by a tractor, locomotive or steam engine.

In addition to Minerva, seated alongside the trailer, there are numerous articles, including lawn mowers, lawn seats of unique design and other personal property.

County's Potato Growers to Vote

Potato growers of Ulster county will on August 22 vote on a proposition to place certain restrictions on shipments of potatoes to points outside of New York state. The program has been tentatively approved by the secretary of agriculture.

Voting will be done at the Farm Bureau Office, Kingston, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday, August 22.

The following letter, explaining the program, has today been mailed by Farm Bureau Manager Albert Kurdt to all potato growers in Ulster county:

Mr. Kurdt's Letter

Dear Potato Grower.

On August 22, you will have the opportunity to vote for or against the proposed potato marketing agreement program. This program, as you know, was developed by potato grower representatives with the help of AAA officials last spring and was presented to producers for discussion at public hearings held in New York and other late-producing states. The referendum will be conducted by the county conservation committees under the supervision of the state committees. The program cannot become effective unless it is found to be approved by at least two-thirds of the producers taking part in the referendum.

You can vote by appearing at the Farm Bureau Office, 74 John street, Kingston, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on Monday, August 22.

The program is intended to cover part or all of the following 15 late-producing states: California, Colorado, Idaho, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming, and it would run until June 30, 1941, unless terminated sooner either by the secretary of agriculture or by producers. It could be suspended, however, during years of short crops or high prices.

The following are the principal features of the program:

Bar cull potatoes from shipment to out-of-state markets.

Require federal-state inspection of out-of-state shipments.

Permit further restrictions when necessary on other low grade or small size potatoes, but only upon recommendation of area committees.

Provide for administration of the program by area committees composed of growers and handlers selected from nominations made by growers and handlers themselves.

The program would not permit shipping quotas or quantity limitation on potato shipments, within a state. It's provisions apply only to shipments from one state to another state.

The July 1 crop report shows that the potato industry is again faced with a huge crop. The 386,660,000 bushels forecast would be virtually 17,000,000 bushels more than the average production of the ten-year period, 1927-36, as well as the seventh largest crop on record. The proposed marketing agreement program is designed to help growers improve marketing conditions by preventing shipment of cull potatoes in interstate commerce so as to increase the demand for, and returns from, the better quality potatoes marketed.

Further information about the proposed potato program can be obtained at the Farm Bureau office.

Civil Service Exams At High School Tonight

Civil service examinations will be held at the high school this evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of preparing eligible lists from which the education board may appoint janitors and an engineer to have charge of the new Myron J. Michael School. Approximately 150 men have signified their intention of taking the examinations.

Welcome for Pershing

Paris, Aug. 17 (AP) — General John J. Pershing received a hearty welcome today on his "homecoming" to Paris for a visit as chairman of the American Battle Monuments Commission. More than 100 persons gathered at the Saint Lazare station to greet the wartime commander of the American armies in France. United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt headed a delegation from the American embassy staff.

Roosevelt to Canada

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt, off to Canada today, will add more miles to his travel record and another honorary degree to the string given him by colleges and universities. Queens University of Canada will present the degree tomorrow and after the ceremony the president will help dedicate an international bridge. A companion will be Premier McKenzie King of Canada.

Heat too Much—Guilty

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Chalk up Frank Mancuso, 45, of Paterson, N. J., defendant in a larceny case, as the latest heat wave victim. Mancuso, being tried on charges he defrauded Mrs. Ermina Tafaone of Brooklyn of $700 by promising to get city jobs for her four sons, wilted after two days in the stuffy courtroom. "It's too hot," he gasped yesterday, "I'll plead guilty."

Will Try McGuinness

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—William F. McGuinness, suspended Brooklyn assistant district attorney who is accused of accepting a $100 bribe to "fix" a perjury case, will be tried September 6 on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice. Both McGuinness and George Murphy, courthouse elevator operator held as the "go between," pleaded innocent at their arraignment yesterday. They will be tried together.

12-Pound Trout Caught

Malone, N. Y., August 17 (AP).—A brown trout, tipping the beam at 12 pounds two ounces, was exhibited here today by George Clark. Clark caught the big fish in the Salmon river, a short distance south of Malone. It was the largest brown trout taken from the river this season.

He took off from Ibany airport today at 8:45 a.m. (E. D. T.), headed for Utica where he will make the first of three scheduled stops en route to Buffalo, the Associated Press says.

Corrigan was expected by airport attaches to reach Utica in 50 minutes. Stops will be made later in the day at Syracuse and Rochester.
